How we can work better, together

Our success as the British Council and IELTS comes from working closely with valued partners like you.

Across the world, with our network of Partnership Programmes, we recognise and reward organisations just like yours: agents, schools and businesses that register and prepare test takers for IELTS.

Our programme exists to help you get ahead – with advantages like networking opportunities and being associated with a leading language brand.

Brand association

After your first year of registrations, you'll receive a membership certificate and plaque. Plus, your organisation will be listed on your local British Council website. You'll even have exclusive permission to use the straplines: 'IELTS registration centre for the British Council' and 'Member of the British Council IELTS Partnership Programme' in your marketing material.

Marketing support

You'll have everything you need to get off to a good start with our wide range of free marketing materials. Promote IELTS to your test takers, in your way: you can choose from brochures and banners through to full co-branding of relevant areas of your premises.

Training opportunities

We'll get your staff in charge of IELTS up to speed, with helpful training on the registration process. You can even access free agent or teacher training (depending on your location).

Learning resources

You may qualify for more benefits to help you go even further. Depending on location, you could get free or discounted access to IELTS preparation materials, enhanced operational benefits, and invitations to local, regional, or even global events.

We go further, together

We set up the British Council IELTS Partnership Programme to empower partner organisations to unlock their full potential. When you become a member organisation, you enjoy access to British Council tools and training, plus generous incentives for supporting test delivery and recruiting test takers.

British Council is a proud co-owner of IELTS

The British Council is the UK's international organisation for cultural relations and educational opportunities. We create friendly knowledge and understanding between the people of the UK and other countries. We do this by making a positive contribution to the UK and the countries we work with – changing lives by creating opportunities, building connections and engendering trust.

We work with more than 100 countries across the world in the fields of arts and culture, the English language, education and civil society. Last year, we reached more than 80 million people directly and 791 million people overall, including online, through broadcasts and publications.

Our overarching aim is to deepen trust and understanding within and between communities.

The strength and continuing success of the British Council rests on partners who support us. While working with our partners, we create platforms with a focus on building links to encourage collaboration and exchange. By partnering with you, we aim to enhance your students' education, employment and life prospects.

Everything you need to know about our Partnership Programme and its benefits can be found here in this brochure. We look forward to working with you.
